

Ricky Springer, an 8 yr old living with Eosinophilic Colitis, knows what it's like to suffer and live in pain.

Ricky suffered for the first 21 months of his life, while his parents took him to 18 different doctors, trying to get a diagnosis for his GI issues.

Ricky is using his love for racing to bring awareness of Eosinophilic Gastrointestinal Disorders (EGID) to the general public and raise money for APFED, designated specifically towards the education of physicians and the general public of about EGID.
